High Output Ileostomy Regime

Stoma Care, General Surgery

High Ileostomy Output Regime

Take your 4mgs of Loperamide tablets 4 times a day, 45 minutes before meals, and at night, or as otherwise directed. It is important to take these tablets before meals. If you are not taking regular meals, take the dose with a small drink. If you are in hospital ask your nurse for these, as the timing may not coincide with the ward drug round.

Avoid fluids by mouth (except to take tablets), 45 minutes before, during and after meals.

Drink 1 litre of one of the solutions (see below) and up to 800mls (4cups / glasses) of other fluids, i.e. 'Sports' drinks. Avoid drinking water. Tea or coffee may increase your output due to the caffeine content.

Diet: Eat a diet high in 'stodge' and low in fibre, e.g. white bread, rice, mashed potatoes, pasta, ripe bananas, smooth peanut butter, crisps, jelly babies, marshmallows.

Remember to add salt to your food or when cooking (1 teaspoon in 24hrs).
